EXOS OFFER TO SCORPIUS SPACE LAUNCH COMPANY

Board Overview

John M. Quinn | Cofounder & CEO, Exos Aerospace

October 10, 2026

CONFIDENTIAL — DRAFT — NEGOTIATING TERMS

The Decision

The Board is asked to vote on five motions today.

That's why Exos has stayed committed to funding this acquisition: fair value for SSLC holders, stability for SSLC's team, and real growth for investors. Together we're stronger than apart.

Motion 1: Approve Exos offer (Option B) + §3 exclusivity (90-day) + ROFR on asset sale
Motion 2: Full read-only QB Online access for diligence (Cal. Corp. Code §1602 + AAA §4; under 7/27/2021 NDA)
Motion 3: Correct AR Unbilled & Deposits accounting within 5 days (A La Carte + outside CPAs)
Motion 4: Consent to ERP/MRP & inventory evaluation using QB data (confidential under NDA)
Motion 5: Resolve related-party balances (4/30/2026 entries) — independent accountant; Microcosm/Wertz directors abstain

These motions protect every SSLC holder outside the Microcosm/Wertz group, including Exos (18.06%), by correcting the books before any payout.

Share register (08-2024): Microcosm 32.09% + Wertz 11.80% = 43.90% group (53.6% of non-Exos pool). Exos: 18.06% (157,553 of 872,525 shares). Non-Microcosm/Wertz: 56.1%.

Where SSLC Stands Today

$590K

Cash at 10/11

One IM payment 10/7

$713K

Last quarter revenue

Most recent reported quarter

~$1.46M/qtr

Required to hit $5.1M

M1 milestone threshold

$590K cash at 10/11 came largely from one Intuitive Machines payment on 10/7 for start-billed tanks; a $5.1M year still requires ~2× last quarter's pace starting now. With $1.03M of debt, equity of −$1.44M, and physical-space and single-winder constraints, Exos's offer removes the funding risk and gives SSLC holders direct upside.

Share Register Check: 08-2024 Register vs. 6/3/2026 Ledger

Two discrepancies between the Aug 2024 share register and the 6/3/2026 QB stock ledger. Motion 2 corrects the register.

⚠ Conger: cert #3 (44,000 sh.) missing from ledger.
Only cert #43 (29,000 sh.) shown. Motion 2 corrects both.

Non-Microcosm/Wertz (489,525 sh.) = 56.1% of votes.

Microcosm/Wertz group 43.9% — cannot unilaterally pass Motion 5.

Exos $790K Invested — How Accumulated

The April 30, 2026 Entries: As Found and What They Cost Holders

Per SSLC's QuickBooks, 4/30/2026

$426,687 — Microcosm A/P reclassified to Due to Microcosm

Vendor invoices become a fixed insider balance due at close

$97,302 — Interest capitalized into the Bookstore note

Increases the payout to Microcosm Astronautics Books

$812,699 — Loans to Microcosm, booked in workers'-comp acct 1480

Not a receivable. Netted 6/30/2025 (#25925-26): $294,499 loan payable + $518,201 no invoices Reclassified to acct 1481 on 4/30/2026; now $0

Since Jul 2024: SSLC pays 100% of facility costs

Microcosm's ~$351K share (rent + utilities) has never been credited

Why the Board must review (appearance, not intent)

- Every entry favors Microcosm/Wertz-controlled entities and increases what they are paid at close.
- The entries were made under the direction of interested officers and were not approved by disinterested directors (Cal. Corp. Code §310).
- They were made while a director's right to inspect the books was outstanding (Bylaws Art. VII §4).
- They were booked while the acquisition was pending.
- Insider interest was capitalized while Exos, the one outside lender, went unpaid — Microcosm's 2026 short-term loans ($150K) were repaid within months; Exos's $31K loan remains past due.

Together these create the appearance of self-dealing, which a buyer, fairness-opinion provider or court would question.

IMPACT ON SSLC HOLDERS

~46% of each dollar paid to insiders comes from holders outside the Microcosm/Wertz group

Step 1 — Facility credit + capitalized interest: $448K total · Non-Wertz holders lose ~$208K (Conger ~$46K, Rufer ~$57K)

Step 2 — + Unsupported offsets ($967K total): Non-Wertz lose ~$449K · Conger ~$99K · Rufer ~$123K · Microcosm would owe SSLC

Step 3 — Full $812K Microcosm loan undocumented ($1.26M): Non-Wertz lose ~$585K · Conger ~$129K · Rufer ~$160K

Microcosm can resolve this before the vote by supporting Motion 5.

The Exos Stock

Instrument

$1.0M EAI units at the current 409A valuation (~$169.7M); ~0.59% fully diluted at issuance.

Offering

Part of Exos's Rule 504 Regulation D offering. U.S. persons only. Counts toward the $10M rolling 12-month cap.

Restricted at issuance

Units carry a restrictive legend at issuance (Rule 504 Reg D). Not freely tradeable prior to the RTO listing.

Public float at RTO

Structured to be part of the public float at going public. No principals' lockup applies to these units; locked-up shares would not count as float.

Freely tradeable at listing

Becomes freely tradeable at the RTO listing (no lockup on the up-front units). Covered by the RTO resale registration.

Timeline

Units issued at financing close. Targeted RTO ~6 months post-financing. Not assured — RTO may not close.

SSLC Employees

Employment Offer

Exos shall offer employment to SSLC employees — including management, support, engineering, and other technical and manufacturing employees — on terms no less favorable than their current terms with SSLC, including compensation and benefits.

Subject to each employee satisfying Exos's standard hiring policies and Exos's completion of confirmatory due diligence.

Key-Employee Option Pool

Exos has an option pool for key employees. The allocation, key-employee retention and new-hire structure will be mutually agreed post-acquisition.

⚠ NOT YET CREDITED TO SSLC HOLDERS

Step 1: Facility credit ~$351K (Microcosm 50% rent+util, Jul 2024-Aug 2026)
+ Bookstore capitalized interest $97K = $448K not credited to SSLC holders.
Net cash at close: ~$1.51M (as booked) → ~$1.95M (Step 1 applied).
Adjusted: Due to Microcosm → ~$100K; Bookstore note → $223K.
Paid-in: books $224K (non-Exos); register basis $461K (Motion 2).
Exos: $790,000 for 18.06% (157,553 shares).

Why We Need the Stock Ledger (Motion 2)

- Books show $1,014,465 total paid-in; the stock ledger allocates it by shareholder.
- Ledger confirms cap structure: which shares were issued for cash vs. debt conversion.

Projection based on SSLC books 10/11/2026 + Exos offer terms. Low/high: net cash $1.28M–$1.74M; 5-yr $3.4M–$7.0M. Not a guarantee.

The Board directs the following:

1. Treat the April 30, 2026 journal entries as disputed, pending independent review. Microcosm and the Bookstore (Microcosm Astronautics Books) shall provide invoice and agreement support for each netting offset and for the Bookstore and Wertz notes.

2. Credit Microcosm's share of SSLC's facility costs since July 2024 against the "Due to Microcosm" balance, unless a written agreement signed by disinterested directors provides otherwise.

3. No payment, netting, security interest, or further accrual of interest on the Microcosm, Bookstore, or Wertz balances without prior approval of the disinterested directors of SSLC.

4. An independent accountant chosen by the disinterested directors shall reconcile these balances and the AR Unbilled / Customer-Deposit accounts within 30 days.

The Board is asked today to vote on Motions 1–5: approving the Exos offer and granting exclusivity + ROFR (Motion 1), QB access (Motion 2), accounting correction (Motion 3), and ERP evaluation (Motion 4), and related-party balances (Motion 5). Declining Motion 1 is a judgment that SSLC alone — without new capital — is more likely to create more than the $18.9M maximum this offer projects (if Exos stock held to 2031). Not a guarantee; "projects" is the operative word.

DRAFT — INTERNAL — NEGOTIATING TERMS — John Quinn, CEO, Exos Aerospace — 2026-10-09

To: Jim Wertz, Chairman, and the SSLC Board of Directors

From: John M. Quinn, SSLC Director; Cofounder & CEO, Exos Aerospace Systems & Technologies, Inc.

Subject: Request for full QuickBooks access: billed-ahead review before close

Jim and members of the Board,

To finalize what SSLC shareholders receive at the acquisition close, we need to resolve the $942,177 shown as "billed ahead of work performed" on SSLC's October 11 balance sheet. I believe that figure does not reflect how SSLC actually starts and bills tanks, and it directly affects the close math. SSLC bills Intuitive Machines about 40% at the start of each tank; we believe those start-billings are not being cleared as tanks ship, which would overstate this balance.

I'm requesting full, read-only QuickBooks Online access for me and Exos's finance reviewer (an all-access user or accountant user, not reports-only), so we can review:

- Invoice and payment detail by customer, with the contract or PO behind each invoice
- Progress/milestone billing and revenue-recognition settings
- Tank start, build-status and delivery dates mapped to each invoice
- Customer deposits ($120,000) and any job or project costing
- The audit log for entries affecting these accounts
- Facility expenses (rent, utilities and similar) since January 2024, including amounts paid on behalf of Microcosm, Inc.
- SSLC’s stock ledger, cap table, subscription agreements and paid-in capital by shareholder (SSLC’s books show $1,014,465 total paid-in capital; we need the per-holder detail to compare each shareholder’s payout at close with what they invested)

As a director I have the right to inspect SSLC's books and records (Cal. Corp. Code § 1602: https://codes.findlaw.com/ca/corporations-code/corp-sect-1602/). This review is also part of the confirmatory diligence contemplated under our May 2025 Asset Acquisition Agreement. All information stays confidential under our July 27, 2021 NDA.

In the interest of full disclosure: with the Board's consent, Exos would also like to use the same books data to evaluate its in-house ERP/MRP and inventory systems against other options for the combined operation. Because these systems are built in-house, they could offer significant savings compared with outside solutions. This use is separate from the review above. It would happen only if the Board agrees, and the data would stay confidential under our NDA.

Could you grant access no later than October 15, 2026? Once the balance is reconciled, I'll share the analysis with the full board so we can agree on the figures at close.

I have also asked the Board to direct SSLC’s accounting firm to correct these accounts within five days.

Thank you,

John M. Quinn

Re: Balances owed to Microcosm, Inc. and Microcosm Astronautics Books: confirmatory diligence for the proposed asset acquisition

As part of Exos's confirmatory diligence, we ask SSLC to document and explain the balances below. These are accounting questions, raised so that every shareholder (including Exos, an 18.06% holder) can rely on the figures used at close. All figures are from SSLC's QuickBooks (Balance Sheet as of 10/11/2026; Transaction Detail by Account, 1/1/2024–10/12/2026). Information stays confidential under the July 27, 2021 NDA.

2. Activity with Microcosm entities (per SSLC's books)

- Cash paid by SSLC to Microcosm, Inc. / Microcosm Astronautics Books: $598,794 (2024), $687,286 (2025), $26,136 (2026 YTD).
- Facility costs carried by SSLC (rent, utilities, misc. facilities): $235,037 (2024), $321,547 (2025), $248,553 (2026 YTD), about $805K in total. These were paid through Microcosm invoices through December 2025 and directly to the landlords since January 2026.
- No facility costs are charged back to Microcosm on SSLC's books, although Microcosm continues to occupy and be identified at 3111 Lomita Blvd.
- 4/30/2026 vendor credit: $426,687.03 reclassified from Accounts Payable (Microcosm Inc) to 2385 Due to Microcosm.

- 4/30/2026: $97,301.73 of interest owed to Microcosm Astronautics Books moved into 2700 Notes Payable–Bookstore.
- 4/30/2026: $32,945.99 of 1481 Loan to Microcosm offset against Accounts Payable ('Offset reimbursable against loan').
- 2026 monthly Microcosm invoices booked to 2385 (e.g., "Judy's assistance with SSLC accounting", "AP Paid by Mic"): about $24.7K.

3. Questions for SSLC and its accounting firm

1. Please provide the invoice-level detail (date, invoice number, description, amount, payments applied) supporting the $426,687 reclassified to Due to Microcosm on 4/30/2026, and the full $451,429 balance.

2. What goods or services does each Microcosm invoice represent (rent pass-through, labor, materials, accounting, other)? For any labor, which SSLC jobs did it support?

3. Who approved the 4/30/2026 entries (the $426,687 reclass, the $97,302 interest capitalization, the $32,946 offset)? Please provide any board minutes or written consents authorizing them.

4. What agreement governs Microcosm's use of the shared facility at 3111 Lomita Blvd (lease, sublease, cost-sharing)? What square footage and share does each company occupy, and why is no portion of rent, utilities or facility costs charged to Microcosm?

5. For the ~$1.31M paid to Microcosm entities in 2024–2025: please break it down by category and invoice, and identify any amounts that were Microcosm's own costs.

6. Bookstore note ($320,582): please provide the note, its terms (principal, rate, maturity, security), the borrowing history, and the basis and approval for capitalizing $97,302 of interest.

7. Wertz loan ($92,500): please provide the note, terms and any approvals.

8. Were any of these related-party arrangements disclosed to and approved by the disinterested directors or the shareholders (Cal. Corp. Code §310)? Please provide the records.

9. Are any amounts owed BY Microcosm or Microcosm Astronautics Books TO SSLC (shared costs, reimbursables, the former 1481 loan) that are not booked?

11. Rent split: from January to June 2024 SSLC paid Microcosm $11,470/month, about 50% of the $23,647 facility rent. From July 2024 SSLC paid 100% ($23,647/month, then $24,238 in 2025, then $24,844 paid directly to the landlords in 2026). What changed in July 2024, who approved it, and why is Microcosm's ~50% share (~$316K of rent plus ~$35K of utilities, July 2024–August 2026) not credited against the $451,429 Due to Microcosm? Utilities show the same pattern: about $1,059/month in January–June 2024, then about $2,727/month from July 2024.

12. Loan to Microcosm (1481): SSLC's books show SSLC lent Microcosm $812,699 between 2019 and October 2025 (booked 4/30/2026), then netted it entirely on 4/30/2026 against Microcosm balances ($294,499 Loan Payable–Microcosm; $423,965 pre-6/2025 reimbursables; $61,290 "Judy's time"; $32,946 reimbursable). Please provide the invoices supporting each offset balance, and confirm why $451,429 remains due to Microcosm after SSLC's $812,699 of loans.

13. Please confirm that no related-party debt will be repaid, prepaid or secured before close without disinterested-director approval.

14. Why were SSLC's loans to Microcosm recorded in 1480 Workman's Comp Over/Under rather than a receivable? Please provide the 2019–2023 transfers, the support for the pre-2024 $294,499 Loan Payable–Microcosm, and the approvals for JEs #25925/#25926 (6/30/2025) and the 2026 Microcosm loans and repayments.

4. Requested documents (by October 15, 2026, with the QuickBooks access request)

- Vendor ledgers and all invoices for Microcosm, Inc. and Microcosm Astronautics Books, Jan 2024 to date
- Leases, subleases and any cost-sharing or services agreements with Microcosm entities
- Notes and loan agreements: Bookstore, Wertz, Microcosm
- Board minutes and resolutions relating to Microcosm/Bookstore transactions and the 4/30/2026 entries
- Stock ledger, cap table and subscription agreements (paid-in capital by shareholder)

These questions are raised as standard acquisition diligence so that the figures used at close are complete and supportable. Once answered, Exos will share its reconciliation with all directors.
